Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is dense and spans most of the page. It appears to be written in a historical form of a Slavic language, possibly Old Church Slavonic or a related dialect. The script is highly stylized and difficult to decipher without specialized knowledge. The text is arranged in approximately 15 lines, with some lines starting with larger, possibly initial letters. The ink is dark and the paper shows signs of age and wear.

A large, stylized handwritten flourish or signature, possibly a decorative element or a specific mark used by the scribe. It consists of several loops and a long, sweeping tail that extends towards the right edge of the page.

Small handwritten text or a signature located in the bottom right corner of the page. It is less legible than the main body of text but appears to be a distinct mark or name.
