

in fine... Coram... [The text continues in a dense, handwritten Latin script, detailing a legal or administrative process involving various parties and locations like 'Castrum' and 'Civitas'. It mentions 'Coram officio' and discusses the rights and obligations of different groups.]

Baczenski obliort Hordenski
 status... [The section header is followed by a few lines of text, possibly a title or a specific reference to the legal matter.]

Quia... [The text on the second page begins with 'Quia' and continues in a similar handwritten Latin script as the first page. It appears to be a continuation of the legal or administrative document, discussing further details and conclusions.]